WHEN MUST MY DOMESTIC WORKER'S SALARY BE INCREASED?

The legislation is not prescriptive on when salaries of domestic workers must be increased unless you are paying the minimum wage as per the Sectorial Determination 7.

The Sectorial Determination prescribes that minimum wages are increased with effect December of every year.

If the Employer pays in excess of the minimum wage then the increase should be done in accordance with any agreement that exists between the Employer and Domestic Worker and preferably a written agreement.
